The Board of Equalization met yesterday morning and proceeded to adjust the assessment of the county for this year. The board will probably be in session quite a few days in order to dispense with the usual amount of business which always comes before the July meeting. They will also meet as Board of Supervisors next week.

Albert F. Potter, formerly in the live stock business in Apache county, now one of the valuable assistants in the forestry bureau, was in Tucson this week with F. V. Colville, one of the curators of the Carnegie Laboratory, both coming direct from Washington. They were en route to Fort Apache via San Carlos.—Stockman.

Last Saturday evening Jesus Torres took a shot at Juan Mes-tas, who was running to get out of the way, but, owing to poor marksmanship, he did not hit his mark and the bullet hit on the side of the wall of Schuster's store, within a few feet of a crown of citizens, who had a close call. He would have shot again had not some one grabbed him and took the six-shooter. It seems that the two parties has had a quarrel over something in the St. Johns Saloon, owned by Jesus Torres. He was immediately arrested and was given a preliminary hearing before Judge Salazar Monday, who bound him over to await the action of the grand jury. He was put under $500.00 bond, which was furnished.

No Pity Shown.
